Saturday 25th, February 2017

For quite some time now, we had been thinking about reuniting enthusiasts and artefact collectors of SS Normandie we come across on social networks or upon our own events. The whole project came to its own the very moment we discovered that restaurant. As soon as we were allowed in to have a look, we knew the time had come and that it would be the place.

At present we are still very busy working out the details of the evening but can already provide you with essential information:

This shall be a formal evening. Black/white tie will be appreciated even if not obligatory. Attendance costs will be approximately 50€.

We would also like to inform you that we are considering a projection of the film "A bord du Normandie" (in Technicolor!) and that we will have sufficient allotted space for those of you willing to bring over Normandie memorabilia and share your passion with fellow guests.

The location: the restaurant dedicates itself to bringing you the finest in sea products and pays tribute to the Normandie through its distinctive setting. Numerous pictures are displayed on the walls while posters and leaflets tell the story of the glorious vessel. The highlights of this place however are its decorative panels, said to be the initial versions of those later installed on the ship. A copy of the "Char de l'Aurore", of Jean Dunand and Jean Dupas can be seen, with its mirrors engraved and gilded after Jean Dupas's drawings and crafted by master glassmaker Jean Charles Chanpigneule. Upon arrival a copy of Léon Baudry's statue, "Normandie", will be showing you the way to the first floor where we'll be expecting you.
